Subject No. 107.
Free or favorable grants of timber for temple construction and repairs, &c.

Summary of discussion.—In order to restore some of the old temples and to encourage the construction of new ones, jungle wood should be supplied by Government free or at one rupee a cart-load as is given to the agricultural classes and not as at present at the trade rate of 5 rupees per cart-load which is a very heavy price.

Mr. Karodi Subba Rao, B. A., (Representative from Tirthahalli Taluk) asked that similar concessions should be granted for Matts and Inamdars also.

Dewan's reply.—Rules on the subject are under consideration. Temples and Matts deserve consideration. But not Inamdars certainly.

Subject No. 108.
Grazing in State Forests.

Summary of discussion.—Reserved Forests should be thrown open for grazing on a small fee to agriculturists, and on a prescribed higher fee to others.

Dewan's reply.—This cannot be done for obvious reasons.

Subject No. 109.
High seigniorage on fuel at Shimoga.

Summary of discussion.—Agriculturists now obliged to go to Shimoga District for fuel, are asked to pay 6 annas per cart-load like traders. This should be put a stop to; only 2 annas being demanded from them as in this District.

Dewan's reply.—No change seems expedient.

Subject No. 110.
Boundary marks of stone instead of earthen mounds.

Summary of discussion.—Instead of bandhs at an interval of every 10 chains along the margin of a number, stones 2 cubits high (leaving 1 cubit above the ground) may be allowed to be substituted when the extent is large.

Dewan's reply.—The subject was disposed of last year, and the necessary orders have been given (vide Subjects Nos. 88 and 137 of last year's Proceedings). More cannot be ordered.

Subject No. 111.
Disputes of co-sharers in a Survey number should be decided by Amildars.

Summary of discussion.—Disputes arising between Paikidars with regard to the respective extent of their lands should be disposed of by the Amildars with reference to the Survey accounts and not referred for the disposal of a Civil Court.

Dewan's reply.—This is difficult and objectionable.

Subject No. 112.
Sites for manure pits.

Summary of discussion.—Sites should be allotted outside village limits for manure pits.

Dewan's reply.—A very reasonable request, which local officers will gladly attend to on representation in individual cases.

Subject No. 113.
Franking covers sent by Municipal and Local Fund Members on public service.

Summary of discussion.—The Municipal and Local Fund representative members should be allowed to frank the covers containing their proposals.
